

GDPR IS HERE

TOOLS FOR THE NEW REGULATORY LANDSCAPE

The new enforcement of the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) has already begun. Finally reaching this key milestone will bring many sighs of relief, but it is not necessarily the end of the journey.

We have developed a number of GDPR tools, which received a Highly Commended award at the Financial Times Innovative Lawyer Awards in October 2017. We hope you will find these a valuable source of support as you look ahead to the new regulatory landscape.

Mobile App: Explore GDPR

Our Explore GDPR mobile app has been developed to make the text of the EU GDPR easily accessible. It is available for downloading from both Apple's App Store and Google Play. Explore GDPR not only provides the full Regulation text but is also fully searchable and links each article to each of the relevant recitals. In addition, articles from the EU GDPR are linked to corresponding articles from its predecessor, the EU Data Protection Directive 95/46/EC. The app is available in 16 languages and now includes a Mandarin translation.

DLA Piper and Aon guide: are GDPR fines insurable in the countries where you operate?

The magnitude of GDPR fines means most are keen to know whether these fines can be insured. DLA Piper and Aon's guide The price of data security provides insight into the insurability of GDPR fines and associated costs across Europe, broken down by country.

GDPR guide

Our Summary Guide to the GDPR is designed to be a helpful, quick guide to the key requirements of the GDPR for in-house lawyers, Data Protection Officers and specialists in compliance and privacy protection.

Data Protection Laws of the World

DLA Piper's Data Protection Laws of the World site offers a succinct overview of the areas of data protection law with the most practical significance for businesses. Today we are pleased to release the latest edition, incorporating the GDPR.

Privacy Matters blog

Over the coming months, we can expect regular communication from the local European Data Protection Commissioners as well as the European Data Protection Board. Members of our global team will post regular updates on our blog, Privacy Matters. To be notified of new posts, please enter your details in the subscription section on the blog homepage.

Data Protection Officer Training Academy

We have developed a Data Protection Officer Training Academy aimed at IT, compliance and legal professionals or those taking on the role of Data Protection Officer. The course provides practical, interactive guidance on how to establish and manage compliance as a DPO, consistent with the many requirements of the GDPR. To register your interest for future academies, please email dataprivacy@dlapiper.com.
